How we store and use data.

We truly understand just how great the uncertainty and nervousness about sharing contact details and what businesses do with that contact data. We want to clarify how we store personally identifiable information and other data. And why you can trust us all at Harrison & Hunter

Our client data.

Very occasionally, clients will enable us to access their marketing and contact lists for the purpose of executing marketing campaigns for them. This information is accessed via the preferred software clients use to manage their data and campaigns such as Mailchimp.

We only download any information from these platforms and store it locally if we are executing clean-up projects or consolidating multiple lists into one for efficiency and data hygiene. When this is done, the downloaded data is deleted once it has been re-submitted to the client's marketing software. It is not shared with anyone outside of Harrison and Hunter Ltd and is accessible only by Harrison & Hunter employees working on that project.

Information Security.

Our security and encryption technology alongside the processes we have in place to ensure that all data Harrison & Hunter Ltd handles is stored and backed up securely to prevent unauthorised access. They also allow us to recover data in the event of loss. We are happy to disclose these processes to clients if this information is required.

Your Access to your data.

You have the right to view all of the data we hold on you. If you'd like to do this, contact us and we will provide promptly.
